Courses at White Hall

Each White Hall course is tailored specifically to the group for a combination of adventure, learning, challenge, fun, exercise and enjoyment.

The programme may involve a range of adventurous activities including, but not limited to, stream walking, climbing, rock scrambling, kayaking and canoeing, caving, hill walking, high and low ropes courses, orienteering, mountain biking, problem solving, night hikes, shelter building and evening activity games.

For those staying residentially at White Hall, living together is part of the experience. Participants share their time together, working as part of a team and gaining a better understanding and an appreciation of others. For many young people, staying at White Hall this is their first residential opportunity and is a chance to promote the development of self-confidence, positive relationships with others and independence.

White Hall Centre staff and visiting staff share the supervision of young people, with White Hall staff taking the lead role on activities and visiting staff the overall pastoral care.

Safety at White Hall

We are licensed by the Adventure Activities Licensing Service (AALS – Registration number L10582) to undertake adventurous activities. Whilst our primary concern is the safety of young people and participants, there is a certain amount of risk involved in such activities. If you have any concerns please contact the school / organisation planning the visit or contact us at White Hall and we will be happy to provide you with further information.

We ask that all participants act in a responsible and sensible way, listen to group briefings and follow instructions from both centre and accompanying staff. Parents, guardians and group leaders should make sure young people are aware of this before they arrive.

Derbyshire County Council does reserve the right to exclude participants who behave inappropriately or who are a risk to themselves.

Accommodation

Depending on accessibility requirements, participants are either accommodated in dormitory style rooms of between 4 and 12 people. Bedrooms are regarded as private areas to be accessed only by those who have been allocated those rooms.

White Hall has CC TV is in operation and is a secure site with no access to the house after the duty member of staff has completed lock-up.

Medical information and medication

Please ensure that consent forms are completed for every member of your group and returned to the organising school / group, or to White Hall, as appropriate.

All medication brought with the participant needs specific consent from participants and parents of young people. Medication should be clearly labelled with the participant's name and the required dosage. For the majority of programmes or courses, school or visiting staff will control the handling and issuing of medication for young people. The school / organisation will liaise with White Hall staff as appropriate.

Please ensure that the school or visiting organisation is informed about any allergies or dietary requirements that the participant may have.

Course participants at White Hall do undertake activities in or near lakes and streams. Leptospirosis (Weils disease) is a rare but endemic waterborne disease in Great Britain and there is therefore a tiny risk of infection from contact with water. Should a participant who has attended a course at White Hall develop flu or fever like symptoms, we advise consulting your doctor and informing them that they have had contact with inland lake and stream water.
