

Welcome to White Hall

challenge. Learn. Achieve.

White Hall is a centre of excellence in outdoor education provision.

We have over 60 years of experience working and developing our courses to meet the needs of young people.

Situated in a stunning location in the beautiful Peak District National Park, White Hall Outdoor Education Centre has given thousands of young people wonderful, memorable experiences since it opened in 1951 as Britain's first local education authority outdoor centre.

Our courses are packed full of excitement and adventure, leading to an amazing amount of learning taking place. Using activities and the residential experience, we can help young people develop in alternative ways to how they can in the school environment. We give learning a real relevance, focusing on personal development and the skills needed to work with others.

We deliver high quality, inspirational learning experiences to all.

White Hall provides outdoor education, residential and day courses, for everyone, including school and youth groups, community groups, individuals, families, adult accreditation, private businesses, INSET days and children's parties and many more. Whichever course suits your needs, our highly skilled instructors will ensure that your students or young people will be given the chance to:

- › enjoy participating and build a positive attitude
- › gain personal confidence and self esteem through taking on challenges and succeeding
- › develop self awareness and social skills, and an appreciation of the contribution of themselves and others
- › increase their own initiative, self reliance and self responsibility, perseverance and commitment
- › improve communication, problem solving, leadership and teamwork skills
- › have more motivation and an appetite for learning.

We also pass on our own passion for the outdoors by introducing young people to new activities that they may want to take up in the future, leading to healthy and active lifestyles.
