

Hill and Moorland Leader Award training

31st May – 2nd June 2016

This three day course is intended for experienced walkers who wish to become leaders in the British lowlands and moorland. Its aim is to address the technical skills, judgment and areas of knowledge which will make you a competent leader. You will need to practice these skills and gain further experience before returning for assessment.

Pre-requisites

Mountain Training strictly requires that all students are registered prior to commencing the course. The Board will not recognise completion of the course by non-registered participants. Copies of the guidance notes are available from Mountain Training. Bring your logbook to the course fully completed with your experience. You will benefit most from the course if you are fit and have experience of using a map and compass in the mountain environment.

Mountain Training may be contacted at the following address for registration and syllabus enquiries:

Course content

The Mountain Training syllabus for the course is closely followed including evening sessions where more theoretical aspects of the syllabus will be covered. In particular we will look at the practical skills and techniques required when leading and supervising groups in open country, concentrating on areas that the board feels it is difficult for candidates to learn on their own. The programme may be revised at short notice to take account of weather and other considerations. A detailed programme will be sent to you one month before the course.

All our staff are dedicated mountaineers and hillwalkers with a great depth of knowledge of the areas we use and will be keen to pass on their knowledge to you.
